Description

Journal of Sports Science is an international, scholarly and peer-reviewed journal (print and online) published bimonthly by David Publishing Company, USA, which was founded in 2001. It publishes articles of a high standard on various aspects of the sports sciences covering a number of disciplinary bases, including Sports Management; Sports Anatomy; Exercise Physiology; Exercise Biochemistry; Sports Trauma; Sports Training; Sports Psychology; Sports Practice and Analysis; Sports Humanities and Sociology; Physical Education Teaching; Sports Law; Sports Industry and Market Development; Sports News; Sports English; Sports Tourism, as well as ergonomics, kinanthropometry and other interdisciplinary perspectives. The journal is published in English. Accepted papers will immediately appear online followed by printed in hard copy. The e-journal provides free and open access to all of its content on our website.

In addition to reports of research, review articles and book reviews are published. The emphasis of the Journal is on the human sciences, broadly defined, applied to sport and exercise. Besides experimental work in human responses to exercise, the subjects covered will include human responses to technologies such as the design of sports equipment and playing facilities, research in training, selection, performance prediction or modification, and stress reduction or manifestation. Manuscripts dealing with original investigations of exercise, validation of technological innovations in sport or comprehensive reviews of topics relevant to the scientific study of sport will be considered for publication.

The Journal presents research findings in the growing area of exercise and sports sciences to an international audience. The readership for this journal is varied and ranges from academic research workers to professionals in recreation, sports coaching and training.
